THE OLD COLONY ROBBED.

Discrepancy in the Accounts of the Company's Treasurer Discovered.

BOSTON, Sept. 26 .- President Charles F. Choate caused a sensation at a meeting of the Old Colony stockholders to-day by the announcement that since the printing and distribution of the annual report, a discrepancy had been discovered in the accounts of the treasurer, John Washburn, According to the treasurer's report, there was $96,000 in cash in the treasury. It was found, however, that stock, securities and bonds purchased with the company's money represented a part of this cash. The purchase was unauthorized. The treasurer's office has been vacated and the treasurer has made an assignment of all his outside property for the benefit of the corporation. The loss to the company cannot be told at

Mr. Washburn, it is said, started in a from the company's cash to speculate with. He lost in these speculations. Securities in stocks were turned into the company as cash at the price Mr. Washburn had paid for them, and as they deteriorated in value during the last few monthe, when the money market was tight, Mr. Washburn had to take more money, and finally it could be no longer be concealed from the auditors. The accounts of the treasurer of the road were audited by a committee of stockholders, appointed each year, and the only way that can be thought of for the auditor not to have discovered the shortage is that the treasurer had taken the funds of the Old Colony Steamboat Company to make up his losses, when the auditors made their examinations, or that, perhaps, they trusted him so much that they took his word for the amount of cash which was on hand.

Last Wednesday Mr. Washburn left his office, but did not go home, and his family was much worried. He came back the next morning in a pitiable condition, saying that he had walked around all night. A doctor was called in, and he was ordered to go to bed, where he has been confined ever since. Saturday the shortage in his accounts was discovered. Yesterday Mr. Kendrick, one of the directors of the road, and Colonel Benson, the counsel, went to Mr. Wash-burn's house and had a conference with him. A full confession was made by Washburn. He said he had no idea that he had taken as much money as was missing. Yesterday he resigned his position as treasurer of the company and made an assignment of all his personal property to the railroad to make up the deficiency as far as possible. Some of the stock securities which were put in as cash are worthless. Part of them can be sold for a good price. The bondsmen of the treasurer will also be called upon to assist in making good the deficiency, and the Old Colony officials claim the defalcation will not affect the dividends of the stock of the railroad.

Mr. Washburn is seventy-five years old and has been treasurer of the Old Colony for about thirty years and treasurer of the Old Colony Steamboat Company almost from the time it started. He is also treasurer of the Union freight line. Whether these concerns lose anything it is impossi-ble to say. Mr. Washburn has a fine new house on Beacon street which he owns. He is married and has a daughter and a son. There was a rumor on the street, to-day, that the amount of the defalcation was $125,000, but counsel Benton said there was no authority for any such statement.

No Attempt Made to Capture the St. Joseph Train Robbers.

After Being Decoyed to the Place by Detectives, They Were Shot Down in Cold Blood by Police.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 26.-The coroner's jury, which has been holding an inquest upon the bodies of Frederick Kohler and Hugo Gleitz, the two train robbers who were killed in their attempt to rob a Burlington train Sunday night, has returned a verdict that the robbers came to their death at the hands of officers while attempting to rob a train. The evidence showed that Fredericks, Garver and Hearst, as soon as they were made members of the train robbery gang, each informed the authorities of the contemplated raid and kept them fully advised as to the progress of the robbers' plans. The evidence also showed that the robbers were shot down in cold blood and tuat the police made no attempt to capture them. Chief of Police Brodie testified that it was the intention of himself and Sheriff Carson to kill Kohler and the two Gleitz boys, and he expressed regret that Henry Gleitz got off with his

The post mortem examination of the bodies of Kohler and Hugo Gleitz showed that they had been literally riddled with bullets. Kohler's body had been pierced with twenty-three bullets. Eye witnesses testified that Sheriff Carson shot several bullets into Kohler after the latter had fallen prostrate outside the express car. The body of Hugo Gleitz had thirteen bullet wounds. One story not told at the inquest places his death on the shoulders of General Manager Brown, of the Burington road. He had quite a duel with Gleitz. and from his pistol it is thought the robber received his death wound.

FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

Delia Keegan Wants $100,000 Damages from Russell Sage.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 .- The attorney for Delia Keegan, who is suing Russell Sage for $100,000 damages for alleged breach of promise, moved, before Judge Bryan, today, to strike out that portion of Mr. Sage's answer declaring that the plaintiff had led a profligate life. Her attorney said the matter was irrelevant and scandalous. Mr. Sage's attorney contended, in the course of his argument, that the statute of limitations debarred the motion, as twenty-four years have elapsed since the alleged promises were made. The Judge gave the plaintiff twenty-four hours in which to prepare an answer to this contention.

Admiral De Mellos Renews the Bombardment of the City.

Great Damage to the Capital, and Several Persons Reported to Have Been Killed.

CIVIL WAR IN ARGENTINA

Ex-President Pelligrini Captured by the Insurrectionists.

Fight at Buenos Ayres Between Torpedo Boats and War Ships-William's Offer to Bismarck.

New York, Sept. 26 .- The Herald's Montevideo special says: The rebel fleet, which has been so long blockading the harbor of Rio de Janeiro, again bombarded the city yesterday, under Admiral De Mellos's order. The firing was very severe, and the damage done exceeds that of the first bombardment. Several women and children were killed, but the extent of the damage and loss of life is not yet known, as no news is permitted by the government to be sent direct from Copies of Admiral Mellos's proclamation have been received here. The leader of the revolters declares that President Peixoto, with the aid of corrupt members of the Senate and venal Deputies, has overridden the restrictions put upon his powers by the Constitution. Peixoto, he asserts, is trying to place Brazil under the rule of an absolute tyranny. "If, by my aid," the proclamation continues, "in making this stand for liberty, our cause shall triumph, I shall hand over the government to the charge of those honoroble men who gave freedom to our nation before." Four members of the Brazilian Congress, on board the rebel cruiser Aquidaban, have signed an address to the public. They say President Peixoto, and the members of his Cabinet, have been stealing the public funds, destroying the autonomy of the States, and fomenting a national war in order to serve their own personal ends. The act, the address says, together with the dictatorial conduct of both the Presi-dent and Vice President compel the signers, as representatives of the national will, to make the present solemn fight for freedom.

They gave Admiral Mellos command of their forces at this juncture, with a view to restoring peace, restoring law and re-establishing republican principles. The address closes with an appeal to all patriotic Brazilians to belo their sones. zilians to help their cause.

Bombarded Again Yesterday. LONDON, Sept. 26 .- A cable message, received from the manager of a London branch bank in Rio de Joneiro, dated 10 o'clock this morning, says that the rebel squadron resumed the bombardment of the capital of Brazil this morning. The forts replied to the fire of the war ships, after which the latter ceased firing and retired out of range. The damage done to Rio de Janeiro is not known, but it is said to be heavy. The war ships are also reported to have suffered from the fire of the forts, and on several of the rebel ships the shells of the forts are said to have caused death among the crew. In Rio there was loss of life and destruction of property, but full particulars were unattainable when the Prince Augustus for Emperor. London, Sept. 26.—A dispatch to a news agency from Lisbon says: "The Times of this city has the following: 'An officer holding an important command in the Brazilian service, who has arrived here. says that if the empire in Brazil is restored neither of the sons of Count D'Eu, the son-in-law of Dom Pedro, would would fall upon Prince Augustus, a member of the Saxe-Coburg family who formerly served in the Brazilian navy and gained general esteem. The officer says that he believes that the only opposition in Brazil to the restoration of the empire would proceed from the army, but he was of the opinion that even that body could be convinced that it was hopeless to try to perpetuate the republic after the recent disastrous experience."

The Charleston Near Rto. WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.-The departure of the cruiser Charleston from Montevideo, Uruguay, for Rio de Janeiro, is at last officially known at the Navy Department. The information, however, did not come from the commander of the vessel, but from the consul at Montevideo, who in response to a cablegram replied that the Charleston had sailed for Rio Sept. 22. It is probable that the vessel is now at Rio or very near there.

PELLIGRINI CAPTURED. The Ex-President of the Argentine Republic

in the Hands of the Rebels.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 26.-Ex-President Pelligrini, who was recently captured by the insurgents, and who came near being shot, has again been taken prisoner, and is imprisoned in Tucuman by order of the insurgent junta. It is said that he will be tried and executed.

The announcement that ex-President Pelligrini had been captured caused an almost unprecedented sensation here. Only a few days ago the ex-President left here, colors flying and drums beating, at the head of 1,500 men, with the announced intention of crushing the rebellion in the provice of Tucuman. But he had hardly got his troops out of this city when the rabels blew up a bridge across his path and thus cut him off from reaching Tucuman. Nothing daunted, the ex-President pushed onward, reached the bridge, engaged the enemy there, drove them away after a sharp skirmish, erected the bridge and pushed onward to Tucaman. On Monday the ex-President, his forces increased to about three thousand men, reached Tucuman and telegraphed back that he expected the rebels to surrender. The ex-President knew that his defeat probably meant death to him, as having previously been captured by the rebels and held for twelve hours a prisoner in a ratiroad car while his captors telegraphed to their leaders for permission to shoot him on the spot, his recapture meant a quick trial and a quicker execution. Thus, the capture of Pelligrini has, it may be said, brought the revolution almost to a close, for he was the chief supporter and mainstay of President Pena, who, it is claimed, was little more than a puppet in his hands. But, coupled with the information that ex-President Pelligrini is a prisoner and in danger of death is the news that the insurgents have so much confidence in the success of their cause that they have already organized a provisional government and have received assurances of support from many sources. For this reason it is believed that the capture of Pelligrini will do more to end the rebellion and cause the downfall of President Pena than a bloody defeat of the whole government forces would have done. Then, again, the navy is said to be siding with the insurgents, and it is expected here that at any moment the resignation of the President will be announced. The friends of Pelligrini are doing their utmost to save his life, but there is no doubt that he is in great danger.

An exciting skirmish took place to-day in the outer roads of this harbor between some torpedo boats, which have joined the revolutionists, and vessels of the Argentine fleet. The attack was made by the torpedo boats, but the loyal men of war were prepared for it, and not only beat off the insurgents' vessels, but later took the offensive and captured the rebel boats and their crews. The fighting between the two fleets was very sharp for a time and many men were killed, including several officers. The National Guards, who have been mobilized, are trooping to-day in large numbers to the various barracks. Roca is directing the operations against the rebels. Adispatch received late to-night says that Pelligrint met with but slight resistauce at Tucuman.

WILLIAM AND BISMARCK.

The Kaiser's Offer of a Castle and the Ex-Chancellor's Reply. BERLIN, Sept. 26. - The text of the telegraphic dispatch sent by Emperor William at Guens, on Sept. 19, to Prince Bismarck, is as follows: To Prince Bismarck, Kissingen: I have, to my great regret, only now learned that your Highness has lately gone through a somewhat serious illness. As I have, at the same time, thank God, received news of continued improvement, I beg to express the warmest satisfaction on this account. Being anxious to assist in thoroughly completing your recovery and re-establishing your health, I beg that your Highness, in view of the unfavorable climate of Varsin and Friedrichsruhe will take up your quarters in one of my castles in central your quarters in one of my castles in central Germany for the winter. After conferring with my court marshal I will communicate to your Highness the name of the castle which may be most suitable for your use. Prince Bismarck's answer was as follows

To His Majesty, the German Emperor: With the deepest respect I thank your Majesty for your gracious expression of sympathy in my illness and sati faction at the recent improvement in my health, and no less for your Majes-ty's gracious desire to assist in furthering my recovery by providing for me a residence under the most favorable climatic conditions. My respeciful gratitude for your Majesty's gracious intentions is in no way diminished by the conviction that, should it be God's will I may re-cover, my recovery may most probably be looked for in the domestic circle and surroundings to which I have so long been accustomed My complaint being of a nervous character, share the opinion of my doctor that, if I pass the winter in the midst of my accustomed surroundings and occupations, it will be the most likely means of promoting my recovery, and that the disturbance of my nervous system which might result from a solourn in fresh and, to me, strange surroundings and associations, which would be necessitated by the realization of your Majesty's gracious wishes, is, in view of my advanced age, to be avoided. Professor Schweininger will take the earliest opportunity of placing this conviction, which I share, in writing to your Majesty.

BISMARCE.

Herr Alers, an artist who is a close friend of the Bismarck family, arrived here from Riesingen this evening. He gives an unexpectedly discouraging report of the Prince's condition. The most formidable of Bismarck's maladies, he says, has been acute pheumonis. disease was not discovered by the physicians until Bismarck's condition had become critical. The phy icians and family are exceedingly anxious, and watch Bismarck constantly, as, though nable to a relapse, which must prove fatal.
The London Standard's correspondent at Berlin, in his report about Prince Bismarck, quotes various papers to show that the ex-Chancellor is still very weak. These papers, says the correspondent, insist that the Prince is pale and worried. He has no appetite and he looks a head shorter than he formerly did. His family is urging him to go to Friederichsruhe, but the old statesman is reluctant to make a move, and is fearful of the effects of a journey upon him in his weakened condition. The Prince now talks of remaining in Kissingen for Two Emperors Kiss Each Other. VIENNA, Sept. 26.—Emperor William of Germany arrived at Hetzendorf, where one of the Austrian imperial chateaux is situated, at 8:10 this morning, and was received at the Southern railway station in a downpour of rain by Emperor Francis Joseph, who wore the uniform of a Prussian general. The two emperors kissed each other twice in the most cordial manner possible. In spite of the rain, Emperor William, after arriving at Schoenbrin, proceeded to Laiz and Thiergarten on deershooting expeditions. Shortly before Emperor William's arrival at Schoenbrun, a supposed lunatic, who said he had been ordered to wait upon the German Emperor, was arrested and taken to the police depot While shooting on the Archduke Albrecht's estate the Kaiser killed two stags a day.

Haytians Excited Over a Mole. PORT-AU-PRINCE, Hayti, Sept. 26 .- The news that the United States intended to renew its efforts to secure mole St. Nicholas for a coaling station has created a seneation. The wildest rumors are afloat in the city and throughout the republic. It is understood that Minister Smythe will be conveyed to Hayti on board a man-of-war, | parades and drills. and there seems a very general impression that some show of force in connection with

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.-Governor Claude Matthews and the members of his staff, accompanied by ex-President Benjamin Harrison, James Whitcomb Riley and a number of other Indiana dignitaries have arrived in the city, and will participate in the celebration of the Hoosier State day exercises to-morrow. The party left Indianspolis, early in the morning, over the Big Four road, and left the train at the Sixtieth-street entrance to the world's fais grounds. There it was met by the State commissioners, who escorted the distinguished visitors to the Hotel Ingram. The but most of the time the Indianians will be inside of the world's fair grounds. At the hotel the Governor's party was met by a large number of prominent citizens of the State who had come on before and were waiting to receive their chief executive. He was given a royal welcome and, after greeting his friends, proceeded immediately to make arrangements with the State's world's fair representatives to complete the plans for to-morrow's celebration. Besides General Harrison and James Whitcomb Riley there were in Goyernor Matthews's party, including members of his staff, General Robbins, Colonels King. Martin, Lee, Kanlo, Winfrey, Cuy and Mo-Kee; Colonel Stone and wife, Major Healy and wife, General McKee and wife, Solonel Fasig and several personal friend of the chie! executive. Among those who met the visitors were Colonel Mayer, Major Nichol and wife, Cullen, Major Major McWhinney, Baugher, Colonel Plassinger, Colonel Straues, Major Centlivre and Colonel Adams. Executive Commissioner Havens had been advised in advance of the Governor's movements and had everything arranged for his reception. Owing to the lateness of the hour no attempt was made to see anything of the fair to-day, but many of the visitors expressed a desire to visit the Indiana State Building this evening. The Governor's party arrived at the world's fair grounds in the midst of a great inpouring of Hoosiers. For several days they have been registering at the State building in large numbers. Every train brought them to the city. Cheap railroad rates have been obtained and thousands have taken advaptage of the opportunity to see the fair. The Odd Fellows were out in force and inaugurated their three days' festivities appropriately. The Daughters of Rebekah, the sister organization, was also out in force. In the stock pavilion, where the uniform cantons were to compete for honors, the seats were full of people who were the three-link charm. The cantons which drilled were: Excelsior, No. 13, Chicago; Occidental, of Chicago; Alexandria, No. 46, of Chicago; Elwood, No. 33, of Elwood, Ind.; Oswego, No. 18, of Oswego, N. Y.; Frank, No. 55, of Germantown, O.; Wright, No. 77, of Chicago. The cantons executed the different orders with a precision that elicited hearty applause from thousands of spectators. Af 12 o'clock there were exercises at Festival Hall. Mayor Harrison and Director General Davis were absent from the Festival Hall demonstration. They were not in the city. In consequence Rev. Dr. H. W. Bolton, of Illinois, was called upon to make the address of welcome and John C. Underwood, of Illinois, to speak for the exposition officials. He said the fair authorities had granted every request made by the Odd Fellows with regard to their celebration, which was all that was needed to show the Odd Fellows at the time of the great position to show their gratitude to their benefactors through kindness and hospitality during their present visit to the city and the fair, In the afternoon the Sovereign Grand Lodge convened in the national commissioners' room and adjourned to the Administration plaza, to witness the dress parade of the Uniform Rank. to talk on public affairs. Fritz Mass, one of the animal trainers at Hagenbeck's menagerie on Midway Plaisance, was badly bitten last night by a black bear. The animal was a clown bear, but last night he was not feeling funny, and during the performance he turned on the trainer, giving him a terrific blow, knocking bim down and then, bounding upon him, sank his teeth into his shoulders. Several keepers rushed in, beat the bear off and dragged Maas without the iron-railed arena. Mass was badly wounded and was bleeding profusely. His injuries will not prove fatal, but it will be some time before he is able to run the clown bear again. The total admissions to-day were 228,716,
